

Building a Faery Crossroads and Well of Light

A new workshop with R J Stewart

FirHaven retreat center, Dexter (Eugene) Oregon

September 25-26, 10am- 4pm with breaks.

In this workshop we will build align and empower a Faery Crossroads and Well of Light. Our methods will be based on material R J Stewart's books The Well of Light, Earth Light, Power Within the Land, but there will also be new teachings and experiences not found in any book.

By aligning a circle of simple stones to the planetary directions, we discover how to enhance our own awareness of the faery and spirit realm. By opening a Well of Light, with a central focus within the simple stone circle, we discover how to enhance our awareness of the primal Earth Light that rises from the heart of the planet.

The methods shared during this weekend workshop can be applied on your own land, either with a physical structure as taught, or in your meditations, visions, and spiritual dreams in any location. The Crossroads and Well that we empower at FirHaven will remain in place for future use.

R J Stewart has opened and empowered faery crossroads and spirit wells at locations in Britain and the USA. The largest, which can embrace around 150 people can be found at the Skalitude retreat center in eastern Washington. This large ritual structure was built and empowered co-operatively by many people for the annual Fairy Congress, in a ritual led by R.J.

Our aim for FirHaven is a medium sized structure that can embrace around 20 people, with stones that can be easily placed by hand. Stones will be found, or will present themselves, on the land. Please do not bring any stones crystals or other objects intended for the structure, as the energy must be born anew for each crossroads and well of light. During the ceremonies for this workshop, we will each empower a small stone or pebble (that we find on the land) to take away with us for our future work with the faery and spirit world, through the power of the crossroads and well of light.
